

At DSI RF Systems, installations are only part of our story

Over the past 25 years, DSI RF Systems has built its reputation by providing quality RF services for our clients.

Sure, our climbers and installers are Comtrain and RSI certified, but at DSI, we think of our team as “technicians that work at height.” Whether it’s the installation of a new system or doing field repairs on an existing one, DSI has the experience and smarts to get the job done right.

Backing up the field team is DSI’s extensive and highly skilled engineering support team that can configure, program and maintain the radio equipment, saving time and money for our customers.

And insurance requirements are never an issue for us since DSI maintains extensive liability coverage including installation floaters for all of our jobs.

For more information on how DSI RF Systems can help you with your radio communication needs, please call us today at: 732-563-1144.
